Dear Professor Brooks:

Thank you so much for your letter of December 3; I was very glad to receive it. We want very much to publish an article and photograph(s) of Helen Martin's work. If you and a photographer are collaborating on an article already, possibly we could print it or excerpt it (depending on its length) for our newsletter. We would need at least one original and reproducible black-and-white photograph for publication in the newsletter.

We would like to receive photographs of the site, both for our archives and for publication in the newsletter. Of course we are interested in all available material on the artist and the site, but we want you to know that any material you send will be most appreciated. We certainly want to read the article you are currently working on. Again, thank you for responding to our letter. I look forward to working with you.

Unfortunately, Ms. Collins-Nakles did not know her great aunt, but here is her address; I am sure she will be delighted to hear from you:

Ms. Niki Collins-Nakles

Sincerely,

Elaine Wintman
