Dear SPACES,

I am interested in any and all information you can send me on preservation of naive architecture and environments. We have several beautiful examples in Iowa, and on our campus we have a grotto build in 1920's. I have been attempting to maintain it and to gather support for restoration of some areas of it. I am also an artist whose work has been greatly influenced by such naive architecture (as well as that in other states - Watt's Towers and Priskup's Bottles Village affected me greatly when I was a graduate student in the mid-seventies (I visited most of the major sites in California and the Midwest - and discovered a few that could use a "caretaker") any suggestions or information would be appreciated →
