

Virginia

Location: Manassas, Virginia

corner Portner Road and Sudley Road

Several bicycles line the front of the house. The bicycles are painted white in the enclosed photos. The artist paints the bicycles different colors during the year to reflect the season or just whatever color the artist decides.

One of the photos shows the inside yard of the property where the artist has displayed several pink flamingoes.

I came across the bicycles on a recent trip. Since the property is private and no signs are displayed welcoming anyone, I did not disturb the residents. I know nothing about the artist other than his/her work is a pleasure to see.

March 2007