Dear Sister Bulla:

SPACES is a national organization concerned with works of art of monumental proportions which are produced by artists of intuitive gifts rather than formal art training. We, of course, are attracted to John Greco's Holy Land USA, although we have not been able to find out much about Mr. Greco and his work.

SPACES tries to help save these works of art on site and bring honor to those people of vision and tenacity who build them. We work with the artists, their families, local interest groups and governmental agencies. Because of a limited budget we can only offer consultation, advocacy and an extensive network of people also interested in the phenomenon.

We appreciate any suggestions you may have concerning how SPACES may help. Biographical information you may have about Mr. Greco or information about the site (photos, printed material, the current crisis), will help us to ascertain where we might fit in. The material will be an important part of our archives which we will share with our membership through our national newsletter. Are you working up a history of the site for your fundraising activities? Does the site have any historic designation?

Our best,

Seymour Rosen
Director
