Dear Ms. Corn,

Here are the materials we talked about which has some information on the John Giudici environment in Menlo Park.

John and his daughter have died and the family has to sell the property. The family is willing to donate parts of the site to those who can offer a safe and receptive space in which show their grandfather's sculpture.

The environment listed as California State Landmark #939 has had little public exposure due to the desire of the artist and his daughter for privacy.

Grandson Michael Giudici and I have talked to a Mr. Ted Sterling on campus. Mr. Sterling accepts gifts to Stanford but wanted the input of somebody from the art department to determine if the gift will in fact enhance the school environment. The next step is for someone from the Department to view the site.

I will be up the last week in January and Michael and I can show you around the property. I shall call to set up a time convenient for you.

Also enclosed is some material on SPACES which I hope you will find interesting.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Seymour Rosen
Director
