Dear Mr. Di Rosa:

You will be pleased to know that Spires to the Sun: Sabatino Rodia's Towers in Watts is in the final stages of post production. What this means is that the film will be completed this spring--at long last! I ran into two problems that prevented me from completing the film when I expected to. The first had to do with a change in personnel at KCET and the second resulted from the serious illness of my editor. That illness ultimately resulted in his having to withdraw from the project. I now have a wonderful new editor and we are making a film that I hope will vindicate the length of time we have taken to make it!

Thank you again for your support and patience--both of which have been generous. I should be able to send you a videotape of the completed film by late spring.

Cordially,

Robert A. Rees, Ph.D.

Hello Seymour -
As I mentioned, FYI, it was through Rees
that I contributed.
